CALLED THEM FRAUDS. Locke's Caustic Remarks on Divine

Healers and Impostors. A PLAIN DEFINITION OF PRAYER.

Dr. Holmes Shows How Satan Seeks Men's

Vulnerable Points. WORK AMONG THE VARIOUS CHURCHES

Rev. Charles Edward Locke spoke yesterday in the Smithfield Street M. E. Church on the topic, "False Prophets, Ancient and Modern." The text was: "Beware of false prophets which come to you in sheep's lothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves." The sermon was a bold and timely exposition of this text, and applications were made to the present, which caused no little sensation. The speaker said in substance: "It is only a step from religion to superstition, from zeal to fanaticism. Zeal is power, but fanaticism is weakness. Zeal possesses the lever that will move the world, but faunticism stultifies the truth and defeats the very purpose for which it exists. Hence the great teacher said to beware of false prophets, for they would soon come, and, if possible, deceive the very

"In early times more than a score of men have appeared claimings to be Christ, but none have been able to substantiate their claims." Here reviewed the history f false teachers and said: "Our own century has been very prolific in their production. There were the Millerites, who sold their roperty and donned their ascension robes. iduatism has plied its horrid trade of desecration and falsehoods."

Attacks Teed and Mormonism "The lost esome and cancerous institution of Mermonism was founded upon a romance which fell into the hands of a Pittsburg printer, one Sidney Rigdon, who ciating himself with one Joseph who was either a fool or a fraud, ceive its death sentence before the last 9 P. M., but it was found to be impossible decade shall have come to a close. If news- for several reasons. Certain false teachers who call themselves divine healers spring up from time time. They come, consume ach time in telling what they have done much time in telling what they have done cause the engines are shut down. There is and what they propose to do, and finally a desire on the part of the Library Comeave with possibly a case of hysteria or supposed sickness reported cured. It is not enough for these so called teachers to ple can see them during the present-hours ell of blind eyes being opened in Australia. If they would remove suspicion and lift themselves out of the role of impostors they dust open some blind eyes in America. "But how will we recognize a false rophet? Our Great Teacher explains that hey come in sheep's clothing. That is in restended piety. They make solemn cavers, exponed the Scriptures and thus rratiate themselves in the sympathies of good people, until some thoughtful people are willing to conclude that bad men could not appear so devont and holy. A Parting Shot for Dr. Dowie. desus further says they are ravening dves; rapacious, greedy, devouring; the he malicious, not hesitating to malign and dify the church, the ministry, the docines and sacred institutions of Christian-

They are conceited egotists who are coking for cheap notoriety, and who pracof the almichty dollar, for which they make frequent appeals. Emphasis is placed St. Peter, in writing concerning these

All teachers are to be known by their fruits. They are to be judged by what they do and not by what they profess to do. false teachers, says that many shall follow their pernicious ways by reason of whom the truth shall be evil spoken of. Christhans must beware lest as custodians of the truth which is to save the world they disprace the truth by identifying themselves with false teachers and suffering themselves to be influenced by the harrangues and extravagant claims of these perambulating imposters."

THE POWER OF PRAYER,

Rev. Mr. Applegarth Gives a Comprehen sive Definition of the Divine Subject. Rev. H. C. Applegarth by request delivered a sermon yesterday at the Fourth A venue Baptist Church. "Answered Fuyer" was the subject, the text being, "And whatsoever we ask of Him, we restire, because we keep his commandments will only run to Braddock, and the train at "And whatsoever we ask of Him, we reand do those things which are pleasing in The first point given in the discourse was the definition of prayer. "It is the inspira-tion of God and the aspiration of man," said be. "It is God turned toward man in providence and vice versa. Prayer there-tore is invisible and indissoluble. There is a bond of union existing between the Creator and the Christian which is as instinctive as the ery from a hurt. It is therefore not a beauty, but a necessity. Consequently resting upon it is the revelation of God to man and the hopes of man toward God."

"flas it ever occurred to you why praver is answered?" he asked. "First, is it simply a reflex influence; that is, is it the soul ransfigured and ennobled in consequence of communion with God? Yes and no.

"The reflex influence of prayer depends Bitogether aron its object and efficacy, else we ask for bread and get only a stone. Second, we must not expect answer to prayer as a direct interposition of Alghty power. Going to God in prayer is and like going to an establishment and get-ting what we simply buy to use. If that were God's method it would be putting a premium on indolence."

THE BETRAYAL OF CHRIST. Subject of Rev. Dr. Holmes at the Shady-

side Presbyterian Church. The betrayal of Christ by Judas Iscariot was made the subject of as sermon by Rev. Dr. Holmes at the Shadyside Presbyterian Church last night. The lesson taken from this incident of Bible history was that every to an has a vulnerable point in his character.

Judas, who had until a short time prior to his ignominous act, been a faithful follower of Christ, had a vulnerable point which Satan knew, and when the offer of money was made Judas could not refers it. was made Judas could not refuse it. His subscrable spot had been tonched. Few men would admit there was a point in their characters that Satan could enter. The wiedge of this characteristic in man Satan an advantage over young men. The vulnerable spot of many a young a has been found in the tailor shop, "con-ned the pastor, "and through a piece of talment Satan has caused many a good Ban to descend to crime to pay for it. Satan's knowledge of men's weak spots has mused the fall of many a trusted bank whier, as it did that of Judas, the cashier of the Apostolic bank of Palestine, and as it ill so long as there are eashiers and direct-who will trust them to the neglect of irrectorial duty.

The pistol shot that rang out in a New York hotel last week was the final echo of Katan's attack upon a man's vulnerable point. The gaming table finds the weak spet in the impulsive man who forgets his past teaching when fascinated by the game, and many a wrecked and ruined man traces his downfall to the progressive game of progressive name learned in a refined lady's parlor. People talk about the wickedness of the Louisiana Lottery. Why, the Louisiana Lottery is no more than progressive euchre swelled up!"

Temperance Lecture at Moorhead Hall. J. J. Moore, the well-known publisher of railroad and hotel guides, gave a pleasant talk on practical temperance at Moorhead Hall last night. He said he did not believe in running down liquor dealers, but rather that people should direct their energies in keeping away from saloons. Mr. Moore was formerly an actor, and stood high in his profession.

GOOD THING FOR ARCHITECTS. Demand for the Carnegie Plan Exhibit to

Be Opened at Night. "The competition among architects for the Carnegie Library contract will be a good thing for the Pittsburg architects," said Architect Joseph Stillburg, yesterday, "whether the prize is awarded here or not. Personally I would like, of course, to see a Pittsburg man win in the contest, and, really, I fail to see any design in the collection that is superior to those of the local men. But the exhibition and comparison of the work of local architects with those from other cities will be of great benefit in showing that in Pittsburg there are architects who understand their business as well as in other cities. Some such instruction to the every doz. cabinet photos. Also crayons at public mind was needed. There have been a number of instances where home talent was shut out entirely. Ever when the Court House was built only one Pittsburg architect, Mr. Peebles, was allowed to compete. Pittsburg men were not allowed to bid on the Allegheny Library. The commission would have simplified its work had it confined the competition for the Pittsburg Library to Allegheny county or to the State. The State confined the competition for the State building at the World's Fair to architects of this State, and they will have as handsome a building as any of the others. The Library Commission has a splendid collection of plans to choose from, the finest I have heard of, and they will be sorely puzzled I expect before they succeed in choosing the best. One thing about many of the plans will be their cost. Buildings like some of them can't be built for $700,000 in this part of the country."

There is a popular demand from mechanics and others who are desirous of examining the Carnegie Library designs, but whose working hours prevent their visiting the hall where the plans are exhibited between established the great Mormon theocracy, which has spread itself like a green hav tree. But, thank God, it looks now as if this awful curse which began about the first decade of this century would have an extension of the closing hour until paper reports are correct one of these false prophets has imposed himself upon our industrious and abstemious neighbors at Economy. It is to be hoped that these pious, fregal and honorable people will discover their error and refuse to be victimized and devoured by these ravening wolves.

Centrain false transfers who call themselves would be dengarous to strangers night or would be dangerous to strangers, night or day, and the elevator cannot be operated after the workmen cease at 5 o'clock, bemission to allow everyone to see the designs, Flower Shows Cultivated Taste. Major Robert C. Patterson went to Phila delphia last evening. He says the chrysanthemum show was a success and did a great deal to cultivate the taste for flowers in this city. He adds that the demand for flowers is unusually good, while the prices were never so low. Mr. Patterson said further that the results in the greenhouses are very satisfactory, and almost perfect specimens from an artistic standpoint are produced. He believes in flowers for the masses, and he thinks the time is coming when prices will be so moderate as to bring flowers within the reach of everybody.

Its Excellent Qualities Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste, and by gently acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.
